

OVERVIEW

Leadership, Assessment & Organizational Development

For more than two decades, I have designed and delivered customized learning and development experiences across government, banking, energy, healthcare, telecommunications, and private-sector organizations throughout the Middle East. My work combines evidence-based assessment, structured facilitation, and practical challenge to ensure learning translates into stronger decisions and better performance.

I do not believe learning happens through information alone. The most valuable learning experiences create moments of reconsideration — where something previously accepted is examined more carefully, and something new becomes possible as a result.

SIGNATURE PROGRAMS

Programs built from original research and ideas — not adapted from generic frameworks.

CONDITIONS BEFORE CONVICTION	Conditions Before Conviction	A workshop exploring how commitment, confidence, and action emerge from organizational and personal conditions rather than intention alone. Challenges the assumption that leaders must feel certain before acting, and examines what conditions actually need to be in place for commitment to be genuine.
CONTEXT BEFORE EXPLANATION	Context Before Explanation	How organizations routinely explain behavior through the person before examining the conditions that made the behavior reasonable — and the practical cost of that habit for development, assessment, and leadership decisions.
DECISION INTEGRITY	Leadership Decisions Under Uncertainty	Improving decision quality when information is incomplete and pressure is high. A practical program for leaders who want to think more carefully before committing to a direction — and build organizations that create the conditions for better decisions.

HOGAN ASSESSMENT

Understanding Leadership Risk

Using Hogan insights to identify strengths, development risks, and the conditions most likely to derail leadership effectiveness. Goes well beyond personality scores into meaningful organizational and individual application.
